History of Frankfort High School

The people of Frankfort have always been interested in education. Frankfort was founded in 1786, and as early as 1799 the Court of Franklin County "caused to be located and surveyed six thousand acres of land and the same was vested in 'The Trustees of the Kentucky Seminary' for educational purposes."

This Seminary, however, was pulled down about 1835, and in 1838 an act was approved giving to Edmund H. Taylor, Philip Swigert, Thomas S. Page, Mason Brown, and John J. West the power "to raise by way of lottery in one or more classes, as to them may seem expedient, any sum not exceeding one hundred thousand dollars to be appropriated, one-half for the use and benefit of a city school in the town of Frankfort." So in 1840 the Frankfort common school system was adopted. A tax of 45 cents on the hundred was authorized to be collected in 1841, and in November of that year the school went into operation. The number of children taught the first year was 230.

In 1867 a lot was purchased in South Frankfort on Second Street on which to build a school, and during the following year the building was completed. At that time it was only a grammar school, but in 1896 a high school system was adopted in the same building. Professor McHenry Rhoades was the first principal and he ruled that school of higher learning for nine years. To this man the people of Frankfort owe a great deal for guiding the high school so successfully during its first years.

The school grew by leaps and bounds and it was soon necessary to erect a new building. In 1925 a new high school was built in South Frankfort. The building is modern in every way and is one of the best equipped schools in the state.

So, in 1932, stands Frankfort High School, a monument to the hopes and aspirations of the parents of Frankfort that their children might have a richer, fuller life because of the advantages they have been offered.

Senior Class History

It really is a problem to the Class of '32 to try to imagine how the dear old school ever got along without them. Why, just imagine how lost Mr. Young would be without Vic to bawl out twice a day for being tardy! The situation is really unimaginable.

Most of our creative, athletic, and oratorical abilities lay dormant during our freshman year, but we were undeniably invaluable to the school. What would the sophomores have done without someone to trample underfoot? So we meekly submitted to their abuses, watched them skip classes, and wondered how they had the nerve.

No one can say we didn't blossom out in our sophomore year, however. We really did make ourselves invaluable to the school. We showed signs of budding genius in basketball and foot-ball, we contributed three members to the Debating Team, and were instrumental in organizing the Latin Club. And music! The assistant band leader, a member of the boy's quartet, winner of the Girl's Solo, and two members of the trio—all were sophomores. And a sophomore girl was elected president of the Girl Reserve Club for the coming year! It was this year that we learned the delicate art of skipping—one seldom mastered by students so young. Quite a list of accomplishments for mere sophomores!

As juniors we almost ruled the school. Again we contributed more than our share to music, debating, and oratory. A junior girl won the Declamation Contest, an honor hitherto reserved for the high and mighty seniors. It was during this year that we showed our unusual intelligence and originality by organizing the "Panther Purrings," a publication which we hope will ever live up to its noble heritage with which we so graciously endowed it.

And now we have finished our senior year. What haven't we done? Athletics, speaking, music, and leadership—in all four fields we have contributed our full quota—"brimfull and running over." A third of the foot-ball lettermen, four from the basket-ball squad, three experienced debaters, the officers of most of the clubs in the school, and many of Miss South's and Mr. Hall's standbys are graduating.

For four long years we have worked hard, played hard, and longed for the time when we, like other classes before us, might stand on the platform and receive our diplomas, the reward of four years of work. But now that the time has really come, we are a little wistful as we look back over the days that, at the time, seemed so commonplace, and we feel a little shaky as we think of all the things we should do in the world and all that our Alma Mater expects of us.

Junior Class History

Whether the day after the close of school or many years from now, may this brief history of the 1931-32 Junior Class awaken again in us memories of days that are past and renew once more the ties which are as happy as we shall ever know. Bonds of lasting friendship, never to be broken, loyalty and sportsmanship have been brought about by our joining and taking part in the various organizations and activities of the school. Our versatility is undisputed.

By the faithful efforts and determination of our boys we were able to supply twelve of the twenty-six on the foot-ball squad, four of the eleven on the team, and best of all we owned the captain, Dowling Nicol. Six junior boys received letters: Montgomery, Nicol, Roberts, Yancey, Jacobs, and Furr. Others not quite so fortunate but helped us gain the victories were: Conway, Kernan, Pythian, McDonald, Watson, and Peavler.

In basket-ball our record is commendable, and we are justly proud of our boys. Wasn't it our own George Kelly that won the Georgetown game by adding one point to that seventeen to seventeen score with only two seconds to go? And didn't our own Howard Kernan run a scorching close second as high point man for the season? Kernan was also elected captain for the coming year, under whose excellent guidance we shall hope for greater glories.

The Akos Club furnished a means for displaying our dramatic ability, three juniors having helped to make "The Jade Necklace" a success.

Juniors are well represented in all the musical organizations as we have members in all of them—from our petite Lucille Savage, who is not only the accompanist for the choruses but was a piano contestant this year, down to (or should I say up to) the tall drum major, Johnny Starks, who so pompously leads the F. H. S. band on all occasions.

Other smart juniors are Hazel Dalton, our prospect in the Latin tournament, Keith Goins, and Cassie Yount, our typing contestants, and members of the "Panther Purring" staff.

As we look back on our junior year, realizing that we are standing on the threshold of seniority, we will strive by hard work and faithfulness to continue our upward trend until we reach the coveted goal.

Sophomore Class History

On entering the high school you find yourself facing a long corridor. Turn to the right and advance to the stairs. The first two doors are the sophomore home rooms.

Due to the overcrowded conditions of the sophomores this year, a few of us were forced to go to the freshman home rooms. These students made the sacrifice with stiff upper lips and became real martyrs.

This year we had quite a number of organizations and clubs. Most of them were not for sophomores alone, but we furnished a lot of members for them. The organizations that were for both boys and girls were the Latin Club, Orchestra, Art Club, Student Senate, and Mixed Chorus. The clubs for boys were the Boys' Glee Club and Hi-Y, paralleled by the Girls' Glee Club and Girl Reserve for the girls.

One of our teachers, Miss Skinner, was the gymnastic director for the sophomore girls. She also formed the Hockey Team which was made up of sophomore and freshman girls. The only hockey game of the season was played with Anchorage. We are sorry to say that our team was beaten. Even though the team did not do so well this year, they are in hopes of having a greater team next year.

After the hockey season was over, foot-ball came into its own again. The sophomores did their share in making the team what it was. The boys on the team worked hard every afternoon and I believe that they deserve a lot of credit. We also had spring foot-ball practice before school let out, and we had a game between the classes. The next thing in the way of sports was basket-ball in which we gave a few men to the team. Then there was the Debating Team. Many students of the sophomore class took part in that also.

A few sophomores entered the music contests and we are glad to say that some of them won first place. The story-telling was also won by a sophomore, Carolyn Rogers.

As the time for our departure draws near, I had better sign off. Will see you again next year. Cheerio!

Freshman Class History

Intensive work began in September in our school. There were ninety freshmen enrolled at the time. There are now eighty-five, three home room teachers, and some other odds and ends.

The freshman boys, of course, still afford the sophies much fun, with the most amusing and delightful hair-raising novelties of the season. No matter how hard we try to keep our beautiful locks, scalped hair seems to remain the style.

The Freshman Basketball Team won games over the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior Teams this year, and were given a banquet by the other three classes. The Junior Hi-Y which is the same as the Freshman Team, with the exception of two eighth graders, won four games with other schools and lost two.

There are several freshmen in the band and orchestra, and two in the Glee Club. We also have members of our class in various other clubs, including the Latin Club, Art Club, Home Economics, and the Student Senate.

Mingling with us are other talented freshmen but, of course, freshmen do not have as many opportunities to display their talent as do the other classes. But don't you worry. We will before we graduate, and in four more years we should be able to look back through our high school careers and feel that we have done our part in making a better school.

Eighth Grade History

Listen upper classmen
While I do as I am bade:
I will sing you a ballad
Of our wondrous eighth grade.

Our students are many
Our loafers are few;
Of our "Purrings" reporters
You find one and two.

We have them big and little—
Wee "Boots" and Portwood tall.
And we always give our quota
To any kind of ball.

Jack Ballard representing us
In studies is the best,
And Billy Crutcher is always in
The state Oboe Contest.

Our girls? There are none better
That ever you will see.
The teachers are the finest
And proud of them are we.

We, eighth graders, aren't conceited
We can't afford to be,
But we will beat all classes
Now you just wait and see.

Hockey Team

In the fall of 1931 word was passed around that practice would begin for the new hockey team at the Second Street School. A large number responded and Miss Elizabeth Skinner, coach and adviser, organized the Hockey Club.

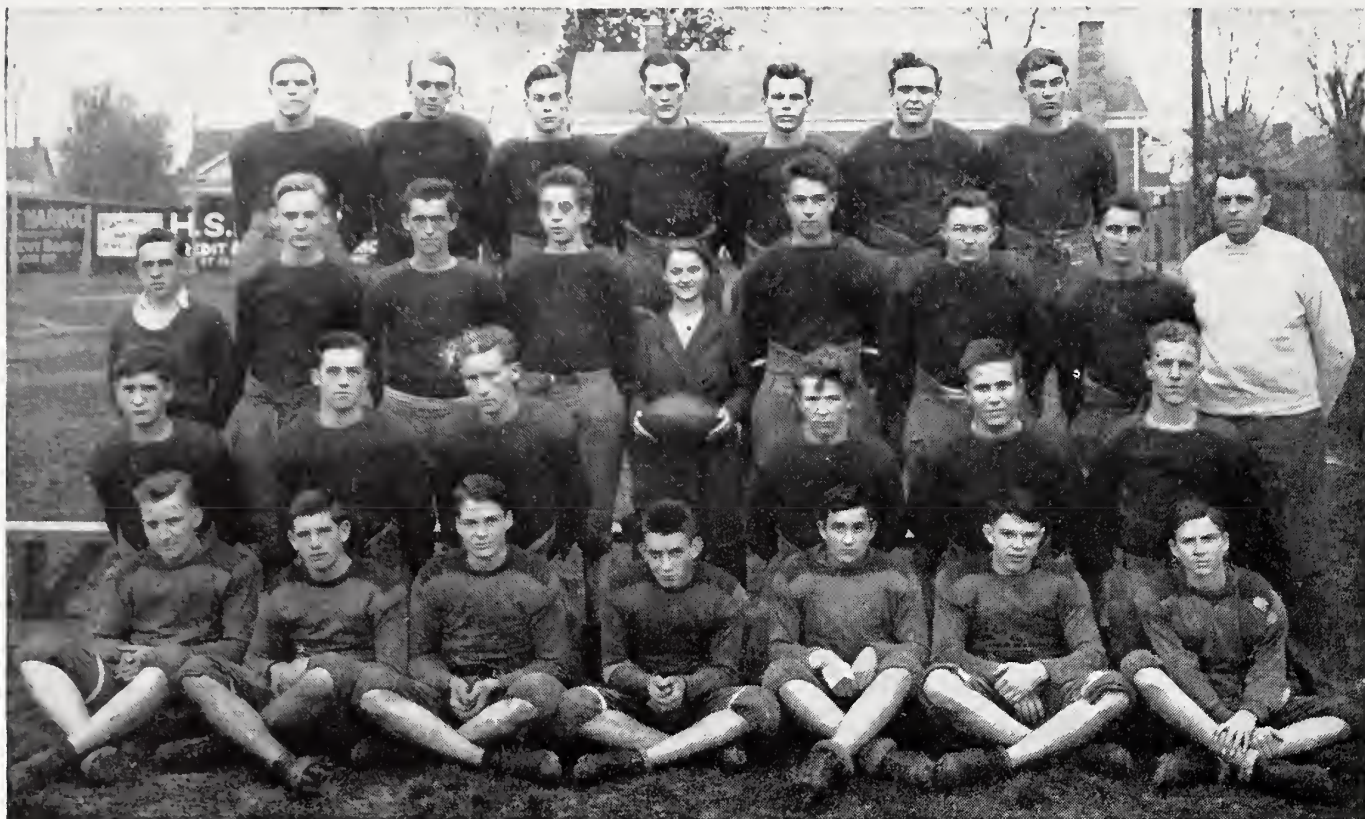

On November 13 the members of the club went to Lexington to witness a game between two of the University teams. The only game of the season was played with Anchorage on November 24. The contest took place in a torrent of rain, and the players were engulfed in a sea of mud. Cheered on by the shivering spectators both teams battled gallantly to the final score of 12-0 in favor of Anchorage.

Practice was resumed again in the spring with the hopes that hockey may become a popular sport for the girls of Frankfort High.

COACH RICE

We realize how hard it is to express our gratitude for Coach Rice's skillful handling of the football and basketball teams this year, but we know that he did exceedingly well under the circumstances.

SPONSOR GLADYS CAMPBELL

Here we have our little, lovable Football Sponsor who sat on the bench each Friday to cheer the boys, to encourage them and give of her interest whether in victory or defeat. Here's to you, Gladys!

CAPTAIN DOWLING NICOL

Dowling proved an able general and his consistent playing made him high-point man.

CAPTAIN-ELECT MIKE MONTGOMERY

Always steady and dependable Mike made the going tough for opponents.

LOUIS STIVERS

"Jo Bill's" plowing, tackling, and good sportsmanship made him the most valuable man on the team.

FLOYD CAMMACK

"Owen" was there with the goods when it came to stopping strong backs and leading interference.

HERBERT JACKSON

His strategy in finding weak spots, his punting, and ball-carrying made "Sally" an invaluable quarter.

CECIL CAMPBELL

Cecil was a hard-fighting, never-say-die player, who accounted for tackles again and again. Number 46.

CLARENCE CARTER

"Chunky" battered through strong lines for gains and backed up the line like a hero.

WESTERN FURR

Western's courage and ambition made him a dependable line man.

WILLIAM MONTGOMERY

Smearing interference and bringing down runners marked "Bill" a valuable man.

GREGORY YANCEY

By his punting, passing, and backing up the line "Red" filled the position of full-back like a veteran.

The Capitolian

LEO BAKER

Fast and shifty Leo proved a dangerous runner to all opponents.

MORRIS JACOBS

Willing and capable Morris played the position of guard and center thoroughly.

VICTOR BANTA

Full of fight and action "Vic" proved an able quarter as well as a shifty half.

WILLIAM ROBERTS

His accuracy in passing and his cool playing marked "Bill" a brilliant center.

EDWARD BELL

"E's" hard fighting and patient working gained him his coveted letter.

CHESTER WATSON

Chester was an adequate tackle and an equally good end.

WILLIAM PORTWOOD

By his art in snagging passes and sure tackling "Porty" rated a resolute end.

JOE HEILMAN

A plucky lad with a willing mind, Joe proved himself worthy of the big F.

JACK HANKS

Jack, a brawny tackle with plenty of strength, gave and took punishment with zeal.

MANAGER CARL MOORE

"Monkey," a patient, cheerful, little worker, made a competent student manager.

ASSISTANT MANAGER DUNLAP DARNELL

"Goofy" proved a dependable assistant and we wish him luck next year.

CHEER LEADER DARSIE BRADY

Brady takes the credit for the cheers at all athletic meets.

Resume of Football Season

Frankfort opened the season with Nicholasville and was defeated by a score of 7-6, losing the game mostly through over-confidence. The Panthers went to Lexington for their next game and after a hard-fought battle with powerful Henry Clay lost a 12-0 decision. They were conquered by Paris 20-6 in their next but retaliated with a clean defeat of Lawrenceburg 19-0 in the following game. They lost the next three games to Versailles, Shelbyville, and Richmond because of the absence of several first string men and unavoidable bad luck. Frankfort then won a decisive victory over Georgetown 16-7 and closed their season with a crushing defeat of Pleasureville 66-0, making a total of six games lost and three won.

Better luck next year!

Resume of Basketball Season

The Panther quintette started the season by defeating Midway 29-18. Harrodsburg and University Hi followed in rapid succession, and the defeat of Lawrenceburg gave a bright outlook for the forthcoming season. The first disaster came when Frankfort met last year's title holders at Paris and suffered a 21-9 defeat. This did not daunt their courage for they plunged onward winning seven games in succession, including several excellent teams such as Henry Clay, Georgetown, and Versailles. They were again defeated by Paris 27-12, making a total of eleven won and three lost. Frankfort won nine conference games and lost three, which is good basketball in any man's language.

Treasurer, Gladys Campbell

The Akos Club is the Junior-Senior Dramatic Club, the name meaning "All Kinds of Speaking." Under the able leadership of its president, Inez Lyon, and its director, Miss Irene Terry, we have completed a very successful year. The Club is divided into three groups, one of which has charge of the program each week. These programs are varied, ranging from one-act plays to a demonstration on make-up. This year in addition to its annual evening performance, "The Jade Necklace," the Club is entering a one-act play contest held in Richmond in May. We hope that this practice will be continued, as it gives the members a chance to further improve their dramatic ability.

IRENE TERRY

Miss Irene Terry has for a number of years very ably directed the annual Akos Play and has given of her time and thought to the Akos Club for their weekly meetings. The Club is proud to claim her as one of us.

This year the Glee Clubs of Frankfort High School have an excellent musical record. The girls placed second in the State Contest Class B, while the boys placed second in Class A and B, losing to Louisville Male. Both choruses helped to furnish music at the State Superintendent Meeting, and contributed their part in the entertainment for the parents and teachers in a program in May. The Glee Club is a federated Junior Music Club and each year sponsors a program for the Frankfort Monday Music Club.

The Student Senate

President, Jeanne Parrent

Vice President, Emily Settle

Secretary-Treasurer, Donald Riester

The Student Senate is a new organization in the school this year but has so far certainly justified its existence. Composed of students from every class in the high school, it has added tremendously to the spirit of the school, and also to the social life. The members were elected by the student body on the basis of leadership, willingness, cooperation, and popularity—in other words, the outstanding students in the school. Under the direction of the faculty advisers, Miss Soward, Mrs. Mercer, and Mr. Young, the club gave three dances during the year, only high school students and their guests being allowed to attend. We believe this club is a valuable addition to the school, and we hope it will be even more successful next year.

Girl Reserve Club

President, Nancy Gillham

Vice President, Florence Fort

Secretary, Emily Settle

Treasurer, Ann Jo Turner

This Club has taken a prominent part in school activities this year. For the first time in a number of years this society gave the Basketball boys a banquet at the close of the season, and during the Hi-Y Conference assisted that Club in entertaining the out-of-town boys.

At Thanksgiving time baskets were sent to the Salvation Army and at Christmas the girls sang carols. The Girl Reserves donated their services to two drives in the city, the Red Cross and the Forget-me-not Drive for disabled soldiers of the World War.

As usual the Bible Study was sponsored in the school with Mrs. Wiley Marshall and Mrs. I. C. Wise as teachers. This year the Club sent five delegates to the Girl Reserve Conference in Lexington at which time a bid was put in for the conference to be held in Frankfort in '32. At this time also Emily Settle was elected to a State office, which was quite an honor for our Club.

In May the girls gave a Mothers and Daughters Tea which was largely attended and a great success.

The Hi-Y Club has just been through one of its most memorable years. It has done much toward the betterment of the students of the school and the welfare of those in need in our community.

In the early part of December the Older Boys' Conference was held here, which made it possible for our Club to be the host to youths from every part of Central Kentucky.

At Thanksgiving and at Christmas the Club collected and distributed food for the needy of this community.

It is felt that the Club has done its work satisfactorily and has closed the year with an unmarred record.

Latin Club

Consuls, Mary Gillham
Merle Carter

Quaestor, Judith Lawson

The Latin Club or The Roman Republic was organized by the head of the Latin Department, Miss Elizabeth Smith, in April, 1930. The forty members of the club are divided into four groups which are known as Senators, Friends of the Roman People, the Roman people, and the Slaves. The officers of the S. P. Q. R. are two Consuls, a Quaestor, and Pontifex Maximus. In the consulship of Merle Carter and Mary Gillham we had a most successful year. Judith Lawson, the Quaestor, succeeded in collecting all the taxes this year without carrying out her desperate threat of exiling citizens from the commonwealth. The success of the club is always due to our faithful adviser whose patience, enthusiasm, and interest in the club have meant so much to the organization. This year members of the club enjoyed many interesting programs, one of which was the initiation of the seventeen slaves whose ability of receiving a grade of A in Latin admitted them to the club. Pledging allegiance to the S. P. Q. R. flag and proudly wearing the insignia of the republic abiding by the constitution, both citizens and slaves enjoyed bi-monthly meetings of this ancient but modern society.

Home Economics

President, Florence Fort
Vice President, Dorothy Sorg

Secretary, Cassie Yount
Treasurer, Ruth Goins

The Home Economics Club was organized several years ago under the leadership of Miss Lutkemeier. The purpose of this organization is the training of girls in efficient and active leadership.

At Christmas, the members of the club had a party for their mothers, each girl making a useful gift to give her mother. Another interesting piece of work accomplished was the entertainment of the Paris Basketball Team after the Paris-Frankfort game.

Each year some type of social service work is done. This year some clothing was made and given to the Red Cross. The club has done all in its power to help student and community life, and we sincerely hope we have succeeded as far as possible.

The Art Club was organized in 1930 with Miss Jessie Cox as adviser. Although the club is not firmly established as yet, great progress was made this year.

In October officers were elected and meetings were held each week in the Art Room. Many interesting programs were given by the members. All proceeds from activities such as art orders, decorating, etc., will go for better equipment of the art room.

The Annual Staff

Haven't you often wondered what really goes on in the Capitolian room? What a story those walls could tell! As to whom you are to blame for what is in this book—well, Eleanor Brown was art editor and a splendid one she made with her ever-ready pen to fashion lines into pictures. Dorothy McChesney's fingers are so cramped from typing that it is quite possible they may remain that way permanently. It was Mary Susan Lawrence, who struggled with the organizations and activities, and if you don't believe it was a struggle just ask her. To Jeanne Parrent and Inez Lyon we owe the feature section and Inez wrote the calendar—couldn't you tell it? And in Cecil Campbell we have the great sport writer of tomorrow. Bill Yount and Florence Fort are responsible for all the lovely snap-shots. Dorothy McDonald and Donald Riester were assistant editor and business manager respectively, who are learning how to carry on the work next year. The freshman and sophomore class histories were written by Max Proffitt and Merle Carter. And now we come to the Business Manager, Herbert Jackson, and his assistant, Frank Rogers, who collected your dollars, chased after ads, and paid for what the rest of the staff spent. Then there is our one and only Nancy Gillham, editor-in-chief of this annual, without whom it couldn't have succeeded. We really wonder what this school will do when our Nancy isn't flitting here and there through the halls on some important business. We'll miss Nancy as we will never be able to find another just like her.

If you don't believe the honor of being on the staff is work, please refrain from expressing your opinion before any staff member, if you put any value on life. If the strain had lasted much longer, the entire staff might be found living at Inez's right now.

Debating Team

Three debaters, working together for three years and winning the District Debating Tournament their first season, were this year followed by the evil jinx which seems to have tagged behind quite a few of our activities of 1931-32. They went through the first two rounds of the tournament, but in the third round were eliminated by Paris, their bitterest rivals during the three years of debating.

The three old members of the team are Mary Susan Lawrence, Judith Lawson, and Thomas Byrley, and the new member of the team is Taber Brewer. The subject on which they labored so faithfully is: "Resolved, that the several states should enact legislation providing for Compulsory Unemployment Insurance."

The members of the team are immeasurably thankful to Mr. John Bull, Jr., who coached them for five months and made them work harder than they ever thought they were capable of working. His hard work, never-tiring patience, and interest in the team were appreciated more than can be expressed.

Scholarship Contests

Frankfort did exceptionally well in the scholarship contests this year. Out of nine contestants, six placed in the district contests and one won the state contest. The following were the contestants:

Mary Gillham	Mechanics of English	First in district
Louise Kagin	Biology	First in state
Nancy Gillham	English Literature	First in District
Mary Susan Lawrence	Mechanics of English
Miriam Gaines	Algebra	Second in district
Taber Brewer	Geometry
J. R. Darlington	History
Pat O'Rear	Shorthand	First in district
Louis Stivers	Accounting	First in district

The typing team, composed of Keith Goins, Cassie Yount, and Clara Wiley, placed third in the State contest during K. E. A. The Latin contests, May 7, came too late to have the results published in this volume, but those taking part are: Miriam Gaines, Anne Elizabeth Waits, Mary Gillham, Louise Kagin, and Hazel Dalton.

In the George Washington essay contest, in which every student in high school participated, Dorothy McDonald won first in this school and placed third in the State contest.

Carolyn Rogers, Judith Lawson, Mary Elliott

Public Discussion

Judith Lawson, with three years of debating experience behind her, ably represented F. H. S. in the Public Discussion contest this year. Her clear, forceful speech, delivered with the poise and ease which only experience can give, won for her second place in the district contest.

Declamation

Mary Elliott has won the Declamation contest for two successive years, and has ably represented Frankfort both times. This year she placed second in the district tournament, and it may be noted that the boy who defeated her also won the State contest. Mary has proved that she has unusual dramatic ability and we sincerely trust that she will develop this talent even further.

Story Telling

A new speaking contest was instituted this year, and we are certainly proud of the showing Frankfort made. Carolyn Rogers, a sophomore, carried off highest honors in the district Story-Telling contest, and placed third in the State. We certainly are proud of you, Carolyn, and we know that with two more years before you, you'll learn to tell some real stories.

Extemporaneous Speaking

This is the first year Frankfort has had an entrant in the Extemporaneous Speaking contest, and we certainly are proud of Helen Estes, who had the courage to try it. It is exceedingly difficult to speak extemporaneously, unless one has had quite a bit of experience, and we feel that Helen, even though she did not place, made a fine showing for the school.

Instrumental Music

Frankfort emerged triumphantly in the instrumental contests this year, every contestant entered either winning first or placing.

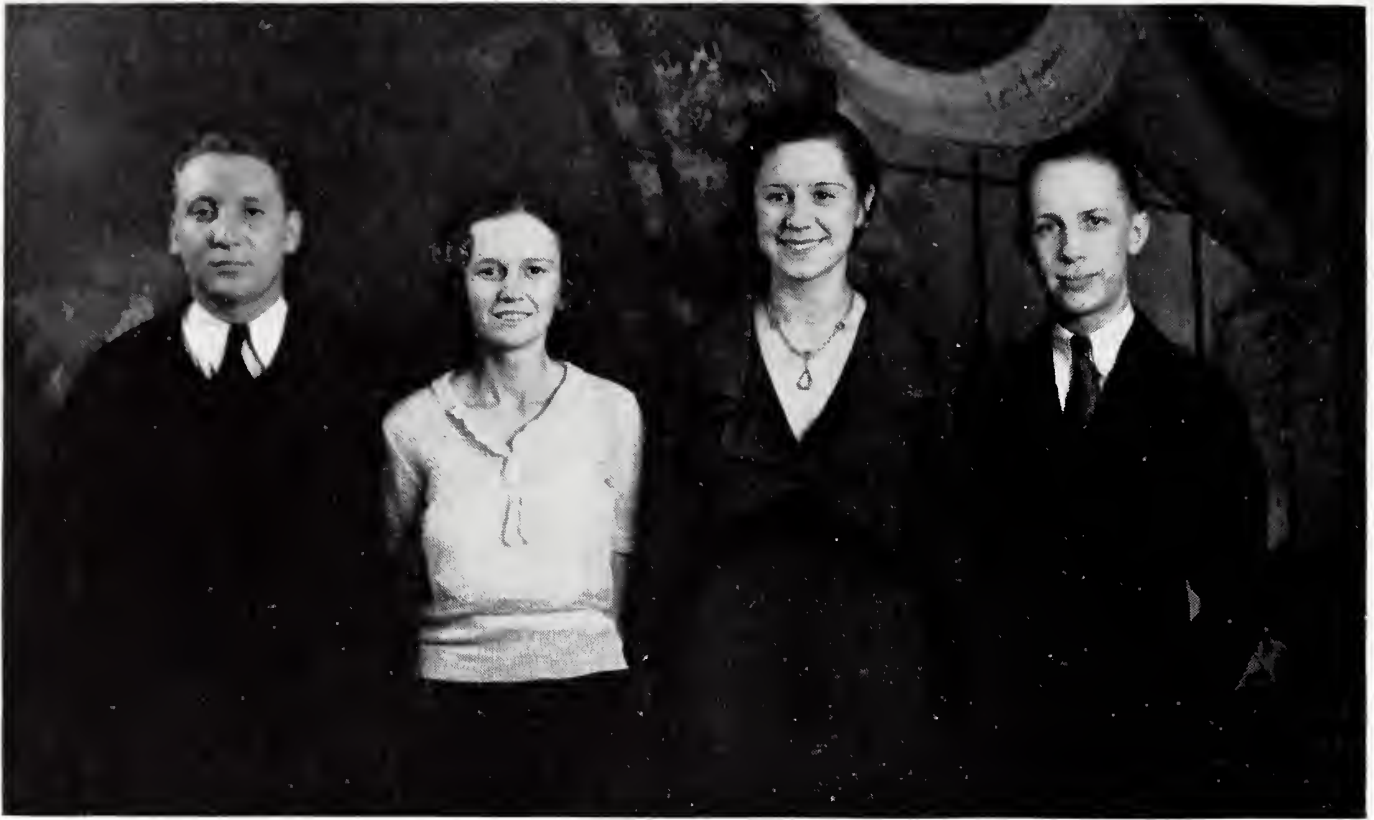

The contestants:

Billy Crutcher, Oboe, second place in State.
Ethel Yount, Xylophone, second place in State.
Thomas Marshall, French Horn, first in District.
Mary Gillham, Baritone, finals in State
Bill Yount, Saxophone, third place in State.
Edward Bell, Trombone, third place in District.
Ruth Howell, Bassoon, second place in District.
Lucille Savage, Piano, second place in District.
Bill Yount, Clarinet, third place in District.

Frank Rogers, Judith Lawson, Darsie Brady, Jane Miller

Vocal Music

Our school was exceptionally well represented in vocal music this year. At the contest held in Paris, the quartet, composed of Frank Rogers, Judith Lawson, Darsie Brady, and James Miller, won second place. Darsie Brady represented us in the Girl's Solo contest, and made a very good showing. Frank Rogers, in the Boy's Solo contest, brought back second honors.

F. H. S. Wins Music Trophy

On April 25, after all the musical contests were over, the University of Kentucky announced that Frankfort High School would be awarded a trophy for making the best record in Class B at the State Music Festival. This trophy is not given to any specific musical organization but to the school which has the highest rating, the highest number of points. The band, orchestra, instrumental solos, both glee clubs, vocal solos, and quartet—all were counted. So we are proud of our musical talent as units and as a whole.

F Club

The F Club is a new organization in the school, but we believe it is a very credible addition to its extra-curricular activities. It is composed of all the lettermen of the school, and its purpose is to promote a spirit of sportsmanship and good will among the players, and to increase the interest in athletics. The Club is new and as yet has done nothing outstanding, but will in the future we hope prove its desirability.

Senior Carnival

"Get your fortunes told for only a nickle, folks! Only a nickel to learn your past, present and—!"

"Come in and see the Main Show! Two nickels, one dime. Only one dime to see—!"

"Madame Floposky, great crystal gazer! Come in and—!"

"Come on in, ladies, and get the thrill of your life. 'For Men Only' only one nickel, one-half of a dime—!"

"Buy a balloon, folks, buy a—!"

"Confetti! Confetti! Only one nickel!"

"Everybody go through the Hall of Horrors! See Bluebeard's wife and—!"

"Dancing in the gym, folks! A nickel a dance. Only one nickel—!"

"Airplane rides! Five cents!"

Who does not remember the din and clatter all over the building on the night of the Senior Carnival? Everything in a hubbub. Everyone having a good time, confetti all over the floor, everyone with soot smeared on his face. The fortune-teller's booth was one of the most popular at the Carnival. Even S. W. S. went in to have her fortune told. Even in the face of much persuading and conjoling, Miss Smith stubbornly refused to tell what the great reader of the future revealed to her. However, it was noticed that her cheeks were very rosy when she emerged from the booth. The dance hall was very popular from about nine o'clock till twelve. Even the Duke and Duchess condescended to mingle with the high school students on the dance floor—not to speak of the other teachers who followed their principal's example. Will you ever forget it?

Bible Study Course

19590 boys and girls from 275 Kentucky High Schools were enrolled in the State-wide Bible Study Course which is sponsored by the State Y. W. and Y. M. C. A.'s. The course which was absolutely voluntary lasted eight weeks, studying the subject of "Neighborhood Problems." Frankfort High School had an enrollment of 89 girls and 82 boys divided into four classes. The Freshman and Sophomore girls were taught by Mrs. I. C. Wise—the Junior and Senior girls by Mrs. Wiley Marshall, the Freshman and Sophomore boys by Mr. Roy Stephens and the Junior and Senior boys by Reverend Olof Anderson. At the close of the course an exam was given. Practically all the Frankfort students passed and were awarded certificates stating such.

Hi-Y Conference

Frankfort undertook a tremendous task this year by sponsoring the annual Boys' Hi-Y Conference and entertaining the boys for three days. However, the people in Frankfort cooperated wonderfully by offering their homes, and the undertaking came through with flying colors.

The Conference lasted from Friday, December 4, to Sunday, December 6, and during that time the town was full of boys from all over the state. They were royally entertained, the Girl Reserve Club doing its share by giving them a party Saturday night.

Donald Riester was given the honor of being elected secretary of the Hi-Y Conference for next year.

Halloween Dance

The Student Senate started off its first year with a bang by giving a Hallowe'en Dance in the gym of the high school, only those gracing these halls during the day being allowed to attend. Cowboys, shieks, clowns, gypsies, witches—all assembled for the common cause of having a good time. The Capitolians furnished the music and following the grand march the judges awarded the prizes for the best costumes to Pat O'Rear, the Spanish lady, and to Owen Moore, dressed as Uncle Sam.

Band Banquet

Who in the band does not remember the spooky voice of Mr. Hall as he told the ghost story at the banquet that night in November and the spooky skeleton dance which followed it? Ah-h-h-h! We prefer our ghosts in broad daylight, thank you.

The Band banquet was really one of the most interesting and entertaining features of the school year. All three of Mr. Hall's bands—Frankfort, Georgetown, and Paris—were present. Talks were made by John A. Royce of Paris, Charles Penn of Georgetown, and Darsie Brady, F. H. S. Band Sponsor. Mr. Pruett Graham, honorary member of the Frankfort Band, expressed his appreciation for the honor given him and spoke on the beauty of music and its effect on one's life. The banquet was a big success.

Football Banquet

The annual Football Banquet was held at the Southern Hotel this year under the auspices of the Senior Class. Little Doc Reomele was toastmaster, and a fine toastmaster he was, too. Mr. Ireland gave the invocation, R. T. Johnson, president, welcomed the Panthers on behalf of the Senior Class, and Dowling Nicol, captain of the team, responded. Toasts were given by Inez Lyon and Bill Yount, and Darsie Brady sang a group of songs. Coach Rupp, from the University of Kentucky, gave a splendid talk on "Training the Athlete." Then Coach Rice took the floor. He introduced the sponsor of the team, Gladys Campbell, awarded the letters, and then closed by announcing the captain of the 1932-33 football team, Mike Montgomery.

Basket Ball Banquet

At the close of the Basketball season the Girl Reserve Club gave the squad a banquet in appreciation of the splendid showing made by the boys this year. Howard Kernen was elected captain of the 1932-33 team and six boys, Taylor, Jackson, Duvall, Kelly, Portwood and Carl Moore, manager, received sweaters. Dorothy McDonald acted as toastmistress, Nancy Gillham gave the welcome to the boys, to which John Duvall responded. A reading was given by Carolyn Rogers, a song by Darsie Brady and toasts were given by Mr. H. G. Jackson, Clara Louise Heenan, Inez Lyon, and George Taylor. The banquet ended as all good school banquets should with the Loyalty Song.

Last Will and Testament of Class of 1932

We, the class of 1932 of the Frankfort High School, being, we believe, of full age and laboring also under the illusion that we are of sound mind and disposing memory, being conscious of the proximity of the end of our high school careers, and knowing full well the extent of our estate and the natural objects of our bounty, do make, publish, and declare this to be our last will and testament, hereby revoking all wills by us heretofore made.

We, the intelligentsia of F. H. S., leave to the faculty our deepest gratitude for their sincere work and scheming methods in finding a way to graduate some of us.

The individual wills are as follows:

I, Mary Elliott, will my art of prevaricating, exaggerating, and otherwise fibbing to the petite and demure Lena Ueltchi.

I, Thomas Byrley, leave my enormous appetite for roast beef to the Honorable Taber Brewer so that he might further deplete the school finances on debating trips next year.

I, Gladys Campbell, bequest my sweet voice and artistic dramatic ability to future Akos members.

We, Frank Dailey and J. R. Darlington, leave our boisterous ways to Billy Pruett.

I, Helen Estes, will my artistic ability to Miss Cox's department.

We, Sarah Bacon, Edyth Darnell, and Eleanor Brown, bequeath our good looks and stylish manners in dressing to those future F. H. S. girls who find need of such an art.

I, Mary Elizabeth Brandis, will my unexcelled ability in suddenly obtaining popularity at certain times to Martha Jean Brandis.

I, Albert Luscher, leave the honor of driving the family car to school, not withholding the privilege of carrying passengers therein to my little brother, Richard.

We, Mary George Mitchell and Sunbeam Moore, leave our liking for Thorn Hill to any who will accept it.

I, Jean Morse, do hereby bequeath my love for geometry and persistent devotion to said class to Christine Harrod so that she will enrich the already brilliant class with her knowledge.

I, Judith Lawson, also leave my position and interest in the debating team to the careful and undivided attention of Honorable Tabor Brewer so that he may encourage the work I have so nobly begun. Understand, Tabor?

I, Nancy Gillham, will my locker and desk in the Capitolian room to Dorothy McDonald, but I first remove all objects or other articles of interest in said room.

I, Pauline Peyton, leave my sweet and lovable disposition to be used by the majority of the Junior Class.

I, Raymond Jesse, will my position as "People's Choice" in Latin IV to any brave and courageous lad who dares to master Virgil.

We, Jeanne Parrent and Rat Johnson, leave our nearly married position to any of those numerous couples that hover radiators and stroll in the corridors of dear old F. H. S.

I, Inez Lyon (better known by Coach as Fi Fi), will "me absent mind" to further stimulate the already lacking mental capacities of various students whom we need not name.

I, Polly Armstrong, will my gracious manner and childlike mannerisms to one who needs them, Hazel Brown.

I, George Taylor, will my wonderful basket-ball ability and unexcelled art in making malignant and malicious faces to Portwood in hopes that this legacy will enable him to hypnotize, petrify, and otherwise terrify basket-ball players of central Kentucky.

The Capitolian

We, Lora Smith and Clellan Parris, bequeath our wonderfully perfected technique of graduating without visible effort of attending school to those two conscientious students, Ruth Wise and Katherine Penn.

I, Darsie Brady, will my sophisticated air and flirting ability to Alice Spires and also my voice to the other section of the Glee Club which will be in dire need of it.

I, Chester Watson, will to the curious students of F. H. S. the knowledge of the fact that I am the much sought for and unknown traveling salesman of Miss Elizabeth Smith.

I, John Duvall, will my art of attracting the ladies, breaking their hearts, and otherwise upsetting the equilibrium of the school to Western Furr.

I, James Miller, will my good looks and ambidextrous musical ability to Tommy Marshall.

We, Katy Updike, Mary Trumbo, and Thomas Kernen, will our perfected ability of doing less than nothing to certain juniors who desire to obtain such an art.

I, Homer Henry, will my winning ways with Mr. Young in persuading him to put up with me to "Goofy" Darnell.

I, Dorothy McChesney, will my never dying interest in the ministry, my inclination for preachers, and my desire to be connected with the ministry to Aline Moore.

I, Guy Arnold, will my willingness to run all the school's errands free of charge to Richard Luscher with the hope that he will be as faithful as I have been.

We, Louis Stivers, Ralph Reeves, and Stewart Morris, will our art of actually concentrating which is such a rare thing in F. H. S. and our mental capacity to Joe Simcox and Virginia Gordon.

I, Lena Weidmer, will my ability of being fast—that is, on the typewriter—to Dorothy McDonald.

I, Douglas Sutterlin, will my undying enthusiasm for Campbells to Emily Settle, who really does not need it but might appreciate it.

I, Margaret Clements, will my studious ways to Ann Jo Turner.

I, Ruth Goins, will my willingness and ability in serving all the school's banquets and retaining a cheerful disposition throughout it all to Miss Lutkemeier to pass on to another F. H. S. student.

I, Cecil Campbell, will my "Settle ways" to some fortunate F. H. S. boy who has the privilege of remaining in these walls another year.

We, Warren Lea, Bob Wood, and Victor Banta, will our charming ways and heart-breaking methods to Charlie Morris, Donald Riester, and Bill Montgomery.

I, Edna Brown, will my good sportsmanship and art of skipping to Carolyn Rogers.

We, Florence Fort and Sally Jackson, leave our ability to always be busy to Emily Settle.

I, Eva Hancock, bequeath my lovable disposition and charming personality to Keith Goins.

We, Floyd Cammack and Simon Jacobs, will our devotion for school to Dowling Nicol.

I, Mary Susan Lawrence, leave my unexcelled willingness to do anything and everything for dear old F. H. S. to Lucille Savage.

I, Elizabeth Kagin, leave my individuality, sweetness, and charm to Frances Webber.

I, Pat O'Rear, will my never-dying interest for Henry Craig to anyone who is willing to accept such a responsibility.

I, Frank Woodyard, bequeath my untiring energy, conscientious study, and most of all my alertness to Merle Carter.

We, Bill Yount and E. Bell, leave our entire store of original jokes, ideas, and pranks to those whom we feel will make best use of them, Bob Smith, Bob Gum, Dunlap Darnell, and Billy Evans.

I, Frank Rogers, will my divine voice, my method of securing adds for annuals, and my inclination to be a preacher to Sam Martin.

I, Henry Craig, leave my quiet and reserved ways to Billy Evans.

Dated at Frankfort, Kentucky, this 31st day of May, A. D. 1932.

Big Doings! 57th Derby for Benefit of Homeless Ants

They're off! Who's off? Aw, I dunno—but, ladies and gentlemen, this is Graham Crackers broadcasting the 57th animal Derby at River Downs in Frankfort, Kentucky. This is station B. E. A. H. on the cupola of Frankfort Hi, broadcasting on a frequency of 800 tricycles to the mile to say nothing of velocipedes.

The crowd is immense around the river bank. It is growing larger and larger every minute.

Ah! Ladies, stand back! Gentlemen, remove your hats! For here comes the great "Chuck" Rice, otherwise known as the Clark Gable of Frankfort Hi. Just a minute, writing a few autographs, giving the little girls a big thrill with those flashing brown eyes. Then he passes on while the crowd stands back with awe.

Whoops dearie! Here comes Bing Noisy, known to us as the nonchalant Warren Lea. Oh, girls! But he passes without an utter or even a smile, accompanied by Miss Sophia Tucker, who was formerly Darsie Brady.

What's that noise? I didn't know they allowed "picaninnies" in this swell place. It must be a mistake. Scanning into the far end of the crowd we find not Cab Callaway but that notorious Mary Elizabeth Brandis, hollering enough to bust a lung.

What's the commotion now? Scram! Just a minute and I'll find out. Ha! The joke's on me! The new arrival is none other than Anne Ford, who gives the appearance of "Frankenstein" since she says the plastering fell on her.

Many other celebrities are also here but I cannot waste my valuable space to list them. Just come up and sit on this spike with me and I'll let you see them too. How about it?

In about three minutes the great affair will take place. While the horses are lining up on the sidewalk I will attempt to tell you something about this.

This derby is run each year for the benefit of homeless ants. Those participating this year are mostly senior horses from the F. H. S. stables. Usually juniors run but this year most are colts, but a good future is prophesied these undernourished animals. "Undernourished" we must explain. It seems these colts are fed on healthy caterpillars and fishing worms their first three years. However, when acquiring the fourth year they are privileged with baby mice. Perhaps you know how enjoyable they are?

We cannot linger here as the horses are in their respective stalls waiting for the beer bottle to be opened. "Sally," owned by Mr. H. G. Jackson, seems uneasy and is stamping around. But, now they are subdued.

The cap is off! And with it they're off! Where are they going? I'm sure I don't know and neither do they.

The Capitolian

Tomato-Juice Vic (Victor Banta) seems to have put the gear in reverse and is running backwards. Oooh! Meee! While Buttermilk Mike (Mike Montgomery) is in the lead, shooting down the sidewalk. Izzie E. (E. Bell) is gaining! He's second! Now he's a neck behind Buttermilk. This can't last! Here comes George Taylor, literally cutting hogs all around the track. Who's this dark cloud coming? It's Tommy Kernen fairly scopin' around. "Two Week Lover" (Bob Wood) is gaining. He is coming toward the front, followed close up by General Cammack (Floyd Cammack) and "Hot Water Rat" (Rat Johnson).

Mooo! Mooo! Mooo! What's that? Gee, I'm scared. The horses are running toward something on Pete's corner. What is it? Mooo! Ugh! Mooo! Can you all hear that noise too? Mooo! Ugh! Mooo!!! Who is that animal that continues hollering? Are any of the horses sick?

They're coming closer now, the horses carrying the "Mooer" on their backs. Who is this Wooly Headed Boy?

Now, I can see the cause of the uproar. It is none other than Luther from Versailles (Dale Duff). Can you imagine that? Well, he's ruined our derby because being President of the "Royal Order of Moose," he has called a meeting of its members and so we leave them all in front of Pete's daintily nibbling pop-lollys.

(We express our sorrow for the homeless ants. I guess they can live in the domestic science room another year.)

Senior Class Prophecy

Good evening—ladies and gentlemen of the radio audience. I am here tonight to tell you about the gala event of the season—the premiere showing of “Now and Then”—starring the famous Miss Katy Updyke, supported by Robert Wood, the star that turns all the ladies’ hearts upside down. It’s a great picture so I hear, and there are a lot of great people coming. They are arriving now. Here comes the beautiful Miss Updike herself. She’s wearing a perfectly divine creation of white velvet and an enormous shoulder bouquet of gardenias. Someone is mighty attentive.

Oh—here comes the famous director and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Johnson. Mrs. Johnson was, as you all know, the lovely and attractive debutante, Jeanne Parrent. They have just returned from their honeymoon and they certainly look happy. They have rather a large party with them, including Miss Sarah Bacon, the famous designer, who is by the way wearing one of her own creations of ice-green satin encrusted with rhinestones. She is escorted by the beloved evangelist, the Reverend Frank Rogers. Edward Bell, famous big game hunter and explorer who has just returned from Africa, is with the Johnson party also. We hear he brought back some very valuable trophies and has proved himself quite a hunter. Darsie Brady, our favorite radio blues singer, has quite captured him, however. Nice work, Darsie. Keep him tame.

And here comes Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Sutterlin, owners of this beautiful theatre. Mrs. Sutterlin was Miss Gladys Campbell, tiny and attractive actress before her marriage. She is wearing black velvet and an ermine wrap and is quite a vision of loveliness.

Ah—here comes the mayor of this beautiful city, the Honorable Raymond Jesse, and who’s that with him? Why it’s Miss Dorothy McChesney, missionary to China. We hear that Miss McChesney narrowly escaped death in a recent earthquake. Some people have all the thrills. Pardon me a moment—your Honor, won’t you say just a word to our radio audience. No? Please do. No? I’m awfully sorry folks but he just wouldn’t say a word. He’s terribly bashful. Too bad. I hoped he would speak to you.

Look! Here comes Senator Frank Dailey with a petite brunette on his arm. Why, folks, she’s Polly Armstrong, the “Story-Time Lady.” I’m sure you’ve all heard her and her bedtime stories over the National Broadcasting hook-up. Miss Armstrong is wearing a gown of crimson velvet.

Here comes someone we all know, Chester Watson, the man who put Rudy Vallee out of business, and who’s that with him? It’s Miss Edith Darnell, one of this season’s loveliest debutantes. She is wearing the matched pearls that Prince Gigalo presented her on her last sojourn in Rome. They certainly are beautiful.

Folks, I just wish you could be here tonight. I wish you could see all the lights and the beautiful women and lovely gowns and the crowds gathered to try and catch a glimpse of their favorite celebrity. Oh, I wish you were all here! Wait! Here comes the president of the American Federation of Woman's Clubs, Miss Nancy Gillham. She is escorted by the celebrated chemist and scientist, Herbert Jackson. You know, folks, I used to know him when they called him "Sally." Yes, sir! And he used to mess around in chemistry class and mix wild things together and look what he turned into. Don't get discouraged, children, there's still hope for you.

The Capitolian

Look! Oh, folks, look! The fleet's in. Here comes Rear-Admiral Henry Craig. He certainly looks spiffy in that uniform too. And I do believe that's John Duvall and Edna Brown with him. Of course you know Johnny is the basket-ball coach at the University of Southern California. Miss Brown teaches at the University too, and I believe she and Johnny are quite that way about each other. They are a lovely couple. Miss Brown is wearing yellow taffeta and orchids. Imagine. How many of you have seen orchids?

I wish you were here. I never saw such a crowd and so many lights and wait—oh—here comes a famous couple, Miss Judith Lawson and Mr. James Miller. They are both touring the west coast with the Metropolitan Opera Company. Miss Lawson is their prima donna and Mr. Miller, the orchestra leader. Miss Lawson is wearing peach-colored satin with turquoise jewelry. A very striking looking costume Miss Lawson, won't you say just a word to our unseen audience? No? I'm sorry, folks, she wouldn't do it.

I hope you're—oh—look who's coming now. It's none other than that famous comedy team, Banta and Lea, and the two lovely ladies are Miss Eleanor Brown, celebrated portrait painter, and Miss Inez Lyon, short-story writer. Miss Brown is wearing a gown of ice-blue satin and diamonds that suit her blonde type of beauty particularly well and Miss Lyon is in black. She has on a shoulder bouquet of gardenias. Aha—the Lea part of the comedy team seems to be making money, anyway. How about it Warren? Eleanor and Vic used to be quite chummy and I see they still are, although I hear Eleanor is engaged to Paul Sorg.

And now, ladies and gentlemen, here comes the Democratic Presidential Candidate, Thomas R. Byrley, and his secretary, Miss Margaret Clements. I'm sure Mr. Byrley will say something to you. No? He says tonight he's taking a holiday from public speaking. My, how he has changed. His opponent, Miss Ruth Goins, was unable to be here tonight, or I'm sure she would have had something to say to you. We wonder who'll be in the White House next year.

Look! Here comes a popular young lady, Miss Jean Morse. She has two escorts, Stewart Morris, famous inventor, and Carl Moore, editor of the Hollywood Highlights. Oh, folks, how I long for television!!!

Here comes the most beautiful and necessary girl in Hollywood, Miss Mary Elizabeth Brandis, who arranges the attractive coiffures of the film colony. She is dressed in a clinging gown of white satin with a rhinestone bodice. Her escort is an up-and-coming young mining engineer, Cecil Campbell.

The Capitolian

And here comes that famous comedian of movieland, William Yount. He has a new and entirely unique way of getting laughs. Come and see his next picture and find out for yourself.

Ladies and gentlemen, I am for the first time looking at a real honest to goodness Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, Ralph Reeves. I used to go to school with him and I remember he once gave me a candy bar. Oh, if I had known—how I would have treasured it. Miss Helen Estes is with him. She is looking very lovely in black satin and pearls.

Here comes a couple I didn't know about. That splendid criminal lawyer, Floyd Cammack, and Miss Mary Trumbo, lovely heiress to the Trumbo millions.

Do you all hear the shouting? It's for the couple just arriving, Miss Eva Hancock, exotic dancer, and her escort, Homer Henry. Miss Hancock is wearing a gown of flame satin with gypsy jewelry. A very striking costume, but you should see her dance. Oh—here comes the speed king of the world, Frank Woodyard, who recently attained a speed of 536 miles an hour at Daytona Beach. He's even escorting two charming ladies, Misses Clellan Parris and Lora Smith. Miss Parris is gowned in white and Miss Smith in black.

Miss Lena Wiedmer, lovely typist who recently startled the world by her record of 312 words per minute, is accompanied by Mr. Louis Stivers, expert accountant.

Ah—here comes a young man everyone knows, Guy Arnold, who is following in the footsteps of Luther Burbank. The beautiful and attractive brunette with him is Miss Elizabeth Kagin. They have quite a large party with them. That famous Doctor, Mary Susan Lawrence, who is escorted by Thomas Kernan, an automobile magnet, also Miss Pauline Peyton, looking exceedingly charming in black satin, and Mr. Simon Jacobs, tailor for the elite in Hollywood.

Um—here comes an attractive couple, Miss Florence Fort, dietician of note, and Mr. J. R. Darlington, who is rumored to be much richer than Henry Ford and John D. Rockefeller put together. Miss Fort has on a lovely shoulder bouquet of orchids and gardenias; so Dame Rumor must be right for a change. We are very sorry that Miss Mary Elliott, physician of note, is unable to be here tonight but she has just telegraphed her regrets.

Here comes a famous couple, Miss Mary George Mitchell, who draws those most attractive covers for the current magazines, and Lieutenant Albert Luscher, who has just returned from a trip to the north pole. It's his 17th, I believe.

Ah—here comes that famous athlete, George Taylor. It has been said that he is by far the most popular man in Hollywood. He's escorting Miss Sunbeam Moore tonight. Miss Moore is lovely in green satin and valley lilies.

Well, folks, I reckon that's about all the celebrities that are coming. I certainly do wish you could have been here with me to see them—I certainly do. And now this is station O-O-O-G signing off. Your announcer is Pat O'Rear.

Good—nite all!

Pat's Poem

Behind closed doors on the second floor—
There's a lot goes on in there!
Sometimes there's one, two, three or four,
It's shocking, I declare.
The things they do nobody knows—
Don't even try to guess—
But have you ever noticed
How that room's always a mess?
And one day Nancy's face was streaked
With lipstick, brilliant red.
When asked the cause she laughed and blushed—
"Sally and Itch," she said.
We wonder why they put the sign
"Staff Only" on the door.
Itch said, "It's 'cause we're selfish
We want Nancy in here more."
And we, reformers of this school,
Think something should be done
To take away "Staff Only" rule,
Let the rest of us in on the fun.

A speaker in chapel had talked for what seemed like hours to the bored students, on the immortality of the soul. "I looked at the mountains," he said, "and I thought, 'Mighty as you are, you will be destroyed, but my soul will not.' I gazed at the ocean and cried, 'Vast as you are you will eventually dry up, but not I.'"

Ted Cozine: Dad, somebody told me today I looked just like you.

Mr. Cozine (proudly): And what did you say?

Ted: Aw I didn't say anything. He was bigger'n me.

Hostess (at evening party): What, going already, Chuck? And must you take your dear wife with you?

Coach Rice: Indeed, I'm sorry to say I must!

Jeanne: We've been waiting here for a long time for that mother of mine.

Rat: Hours, I should say.

Jeanne: Oh, Rat, this is so sudden.

Vic: I thought you had a date with Brady tonight.

Warren Lea: I did, but when I saw her leave the house with someone else just as I was arriving, I got so disgusted that I called it off.

We hear that Mr. Ireland took off some fifty pounds recently, and that he had to give his old suit to two other fellows.

Bob Wood: How did you like the football game?

Clare Lou Heenan: Oh, they didn't play. Just as they started one man got the ball and started to run away with it and they all began to jump on each other.

Itch (bragging about his ancestry): Yes, my father sprang from a long line of peers.

Sally Jackson: Why not try it yourself.

Katy Updike: How would you say in Shakesperian language, "Here comes a bow-legged man?"

Inez Lyons: Oh, what is that that cometh in the distance on parenthesis?

Mrs. Mercer: If you subtract 14 from 116, what's the difference.

Hanley Peavler: Yeah, I think it's a lot of foolishness, too.

Mr. Elliott: Why were you kissing my daughter, Mary, in that dark corner last night?

Vic Banta: Now that I've seen her in daylight I sorta wonder myself.

"Yes," said the professor one balmy afternoon, "it isn't the heat, its the stupidity.

Miss Brewer (sternly): This essay on "Our Dog" is word for word the same as your brother, Thomas'.

Bootley: Yes, ma'am, it's the same dog.

Sally Jackson (on camp): When you sleep your forehead reminds me of a story.

Mary Elizabeth: What story? Sleeping beauty?

Sally: No, Sleepy Hollow.

Senior: Do you like O. Henry?

Freshman: I can't stand it. The peanuts stick in my teeth.

Motor Cop: So you saw the accident, madam. What was the number of the car that knocked this man down?

Miss Sarah Wallace: I am afraid I've forgotten it. But I remember noticing that if it were multiplied by fifty, the cube root of the product would be equal to the sum of the digits reversed.

An old man entered Pete's not long ago and asked: Has anyone here lost a roll of bills with an elastic around them?

Entire Camp Club: Yes, I have!

Old man: Well, I just found the elastic.

Jeanne: Katy and Paul's engagement is still a secret.

Nancy: So everybody is saying.

Visitor: Can you direct me to the nearest doctor?

Tommy Noe: Yes, but I can show you where to get better stuff cheaper.

Frank Dailey: It's not a bad-looking bus you've got there, Professor. What's the most you ever got out of it?

Mr. Hall: Seven times in one mile.

Thomas Byrley: My mother says I'm a wit.

Inez Lyon: Well, she's half right.

Miss Skinner: Ray, do you mean to say that you can't name all the Presidents we have had. When I was your age I could name them all.

Ray Brown: Yes, but there were only three or four then.

Bill Yount: Did you ever take chloroform?

Billy Montgomery: No, who teaches it?

Noel Jones: Betcha Charlie'd kiss you if I wasn't here.

Martha Jean: You bad, bad, boy! Run away this instant.

Edmond Thompson: Well, I knocked 'em cold in Latin all right.

Tabor Brewer: What did you get?

E. T.: Zero.
